Cameron was introduced to crop circles and the ancient sacred sites of England in 1996 and has been visiting them ever since. She has been particularly interested in the energetic qualities of the phenomena and the holistic effects that the crop circles have on humanity and the present evolutionary shift of consciousness.

Inspired by the surveys, Maria is currently exploring Stonehenge for her next book.

Author and sacred sites guide Peter returns with another inspiring presentation on his experiences over many years connecting with the landscape of Wessex and across Europe, as he has connected with the spirits of the Ancients. Through such practices as dowsing, meditating in crop circles, shamanic journeying and drumming in ancient tombs, he has received profound revelations of wisdom he believes we can take us forward to create a better world. Now is the time to open our hearts and minds to the Earth Spirit.

They share this special place with many animals and their experiment includes the collection of rainwater for animal drinking; a 3-pond sewage system with Steiner-inspired flowforms; and a processor that uses Oil Seed Rape for high grade bio-fuel in farm machinery and a large electricity generator. As well as researching the ancient past, Lucy is also interested in Earth energies and now leads local Gatekeeper Trust pilgrimages on equinoxes and solstices.

Ana had worked with refugees who were victims of torture and Antoinette had treated animals who were mistreated and abused. With a mutual interest in researching ways to help heal the pain in the body and soul, they co-created the Dragonlight Essences. The essences will be on sale during the conference and this short presentation will be an introduction to their qualities.

Jay Goldner. Jay has investigated the realms behind the obvious since his youth. After studying architecture in Austria he went to Asia for some years, which triggered his interest in the more subtle worlds and in obtaining a holistic understanding of reality. He first got involved with crop circles in the late eighties and has since become addicted to the phenomenon. He is the founder of the Austrian research team called The Phoenix Group and every year presents his newest findings and those of the group at an international conference. He has also initiated several large crop circle exhibitions and two years ago founded the world's first crop circle museum in a farm house in Austria.

14.00 – 15.00

Bradfield. Canadian Musician, Bradfield has eighteen unique albums to his credit ranging from sacred vocal music to solo piano, including 2 solely inspired by crop circles – 'Sacred Signs'. He draws inspiration from everything that makes a profound impression on his Soul and his melodic, lyrical compositions have been attributed by Shelley Yates (Fire the Grid) as holding embedded tones to aid in the ascension of humanity to the next paradigm. Aspiring to raise the collective consciousness all while granting unfettered expression to his creative muse, driven from one challenge to another by an impulse greater than himself, Bradfield is a devoted advocate of "purity of intention", relying predominately on his intuition to steer him and his listeners ever so gently toward the Light.

15.15 – 16.15

Dr Gordon Strachan. With our summer conference taking place in the shadows of the Merlin Mound – the legendary burial place of Merlin, we are excited to have Gordon Strachan, author of the 'Return of Merlin' here to talk to us. The book looks at the two main Merlin traditions: the cosmic Merlin of the stars, part of the Arthurian legends; and the earthly Merlin of nature, grounded in human history. He discovers a remarkable pattern: Merlin-esque characters, and events relating to Merlin, reappear throughout British history in roughly 700 year cycles. He considers where else in history we can see this pattern emerging, and challenges us to find our own links to history based on our birth dates.
